San Diego Career Centers

Finding a job isn't easy. We're here to help.

San Diego
Workforce Partnership

HOW THE SAN DIEGO WORKFORCE PARTNERSHIP WORKS

We bring money to the region
from the federal and state governments and from corporate and private philanthropy.

We foster cross-sector collaboration and problem-solving through our Workforce Development Board, OpportunitySD, employer councils and convenings with local and national thought leaders.

JOB SEEKERS
(especially underserved)

We help people get to work through career centers, youth employment programs, job-readiness training and wage subsidies.

We help businesses fill talent and skill gaps through targeted recruitment, training for in-demand jobs, developing talent pipelines with education partners and supported employment.

EMPLOYERS

We develop labor market intelligence so that students and job seekers prepare for the jobs of the future and to keep our own programs focused on outcomes that matter for regional economic development.

Inclusive, human-centered workforce development for 25,954 adults & young adults in FY19
